History

This annual meeting began in 1998 and was the first industry-led event to complement academic-based meetings and address the specific needs of industry researchers. The program highlights current industry trends and relevant topics. The broad-based support has allowed the meeting to evolve into a premier industry-led event that is dedicated to promoting awareness of issues and needs associated with research and development.

Goals

The goal of CPSA is to provide in-depth review of innovative technology and industry practices through open discussion of industry-related issues and needs. The program will highlight speakers and sessions that provide real-world experiences with new technologies and critical insights into current issues and future needs. Education and specialized training are the foundation of all CPSA events.

Format

The meeting features a unique format to allow scientists to openly share their comprehensive perspectives on industry-related issues and needs. First-hand experiences with specific applications and technologies are openly discussed.

Program

The CPSA Brasil symposia and roundtables are highly interactive events where scientists share their experiences and visions in a collegial setting. The program will highlight speakers and sessions that provide real-world experiences with new technologies and critical insights into current issues and future needs. Education and specialized training are the foundation of all CPSA events.

Each session at CPSA Brasil will address the current industrial landscape and the global need to bring products to market faster. The program chairs will promote discussion and exchange of experiences, ideas, and visions so that current processes that involve analytical measurement can be benchmarked and future strategies may be developed.

Symposia Feature

Industry Issues & Needs · Analysis Strategies · Performance Benchmarks

Roundtables Feature

Commercial Technology · Mainstream Applications · Analysis Trends

Broad-based awareness of the analytical sciences is achieved through open discussion with industry leaders. This unique event is made possible by sponsors who are dedicated to promoting awareness and understanding of the analytical sciences with the hope of inspiring significant advances in the field.
